Employer Sponsored Visa - Temporary Skill Shortage visa (subclass 482)

This temporary visa allows the holder to live in Australia while working full-time for the sponsoring employer, for up to 4 years. Occupations available for sponsorship can be found on the current Skilled Occupation List provided by the Department of Home Affairs (the Department).

To be eligible for this visa you will need to have at least 2 years relevant work experience and meet the minimum standards for English language. You may only work for the nominating sponsor.

For some occupations, it may be mandatory that you have a relevant skills assessment before applying for this visa.

Employer Sponsored Visa - Employer Nomination Scheme visa (subclass 186)

This visa allows skilled workers, who are nominated by an employer, to live and work in Australia permanently.

You can enter through a Direct Entry stream (DE), which involves being nominated by an employer. You can also apply via Temporary Residence Transition stream (TRT), after you have completed at least 2 years on a subclass 457 or 482 visa.

You need to have worked full time without any unpaid leave for a full 2 years.

Are you visa ready? Checklist

Regional Pathways - Skilled Work Regional visa (subclass 491)

This visa allows skilled workers and secondary applicants to live and work in regional Australia. To apply for this visa you must be nominated by a state or territory government, or an eligible relative must sponsor you.

Your occupation must be on the Skilled Occupation List and you must have a suitable skills assessment at the time of invitation.

Regional Pathways - Skilled Employer Sponsored Regional visa (subclass 494)

Employer Sponsored stream

This visa allows regional employers to address labour shortages within their region by sponsoring skilled workers where an appropriately skilled Australian worker can not be found.

With this visa, the skilled worker is able to live, work and study in the designated regional area for up to 5 years. If eligible the individual can apply for Permanent Residency after 3 years on this visa, as long as they have met the requirements of living and working in a regional area.

For this visa you must be nominated to work in an occupation on the relevant Skilled Occupation List. You must have at least 3 years of relevant work experience. You must meet the minimum standards of English language proficiency, be under the age of 45 years, and hold a positive skills assessment at the time of making the application.

Partner visas -

Onshore Partner visa (subclass 820/801)

This visa lets the de facto partner or spouse of an Australian citizen, permanent resident or eligible New Zealand citizen live in Australia.

Subclass 820 is a temporary visa and is the first step towards a permanent Partner visa (subclass 801).

Subclass 801 is a permanent visa and allows you to live permanently in Australia with your partner.

Partner visas -

Offshore Partner (provisional) visa (subclass 309/100)

This visa lets the de facto partner or spouse of an Australian citizen, permanent resident or eligible New Zealand citizen live in Australia. Applications for this visa must be made outside Australia.

When applying for a Partner visa you must show that you are in a genuine relationship with your spouse or de facto partner. Once this visa is approved you are able to live, work and study in Australia. You can also apply for access to Australia's public health care scheme and attend free English language classes provided by the Adult Migrant English Program (if eligible).

Partner visas -

Prospective Marriage visa (subclass 300)

This visa allows you to come to Australia to marry your prospective spouse.

You must have met your prospective spouse person and genuinely intend to live together in a mutually exclusive relationship. You must marry and subsequently apply for the partner visa within a prescribed timeframe.

Are you visa ready? Checklist

- Passport
- Birth Certificates
- Marriage Certificate or Registered Relationship Certificate
- Police Check
- Medical Information
- Comprehensive Relationship evidence
- Statements from third parties

You don't need to be married to apply for a partner visa. You can add your dependent children to a partner visa both during and after the temporary visa grant (but before permanent residency).
